'KAIJU BIG BATTLE': ENON

These Brooklynites sound a lot more indie-vague and less new-wave-punchy on their new High Society album than on last year's "Marbles Explode" 7-inch, which might mean that the members who used to be in Skeleton Key and Blonde Redhead are winning out over the one who used to be in Braniac. Tonight, Enon open up for some giant Japanese monster festival called a "Kaiju Big Battle," featuring tag-team-type matches where Chicken Noodles and Silver Potatoes fight martially against Hell Monkeys and Club Sandwiches. I am not making this up. Warsaw, at 9. (Eddy)
