

Marmit Debuts Kaiju Big Battel Toy!

BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS, Aug 1, 2007: Kaiju Big Battel, the world's only live monster spectacle, announced the release of its first monster toy (Sky Deliver), produced in collaboration with Marmit, Japan's leading manufacturer of vinyl monster toys.

This brand new, beautifully painted Sky Deviler vinyl, featuring the late great one-eyed space glutton has been officially released for sale in Japan after months of prototypes, painting and hard work. According to Google's English translation of the Japanese-only webpage, Marmit is currently taking orders for this limited edition vinyl (scheduled to be shipped in October). So, if you live in Japan, or have connections across the Pacific, place your order as soon as possible for this debut Big Battel vinyl!

The new-fangled Sky Deliver vinyl is being sold for 5500 yen (about $50 U.S.) and stands at approximately 22cm.

As for the US release of the vinyl is concerned, Kaiju Commissioner announced that 100 pieces will be released state side. The limited edition Sky Deviler vinyl is available exclusively in the Kaiju.com mall.
